Lærdómsviðmið:

Upon completion of the course students have a deep knowledge of solving corporate finance cases. This includes:

- Combine and apply insight from corporate finance to perform accurate and correct calculations and to show and explain all relevant calculations.
- State the assumptions behind the theories / methods / models used.
- Independently combine and logically structure the corporate finance vocabulary / theories / methods / models / regulatory/institutional/ practical knowledge, and empirical evidence to solve the corporate finance cases. Students develop their skills to create value. This is done by:
- Solving complex real life corporate finance problems.
- Presenting their results in front of an audience.
- Participating in discussions (active participation). Students develop their competencies to act as managers by solving real life problems.

Lýsing:

This course focuses on applying the theories, models, and tools covered in V-755-CORP Corporate Finance. Real-life cases are analyzed and used to identify information that is necessary for managerial decision making and to develop suggestions and solutions for actual decision making in the context of corporate finance. The cases focus on various areas within the field of corporate finance, e.g. cost of capital, cash flow estimation, valuation.
